

Company	Fairfield Chemical Carriers Inc.
Position	Chemical Tanker Operations
Location	Wilton, CT

Job Description

Shoreside office position – The chemical tanker operator will be involved in all stages of the voyage, from pre–fixture negotiations review of vessel stowage, port cost, cargo specific c/p clause requirements to Post fixture support. The operator is responsible for creating, passing and implementing voyage instructions. Fuel procurement / management, agency appointments, cleaning chemical supply and various other operational details to execute the voyage in a safe and efficient manner.

On a daily basis the operator will be in contact with the chartering and accounting departments, the ship’s master, brokerage house operations staff, port agents and various other parties. As our business spans the globe, the operator will need to be available after office hours, including weekends, to address issues or concerns our customers or vessels may have. An operator can expect about two weeks of travel per year. This can include vessel attendance and/or customer visits.
